Corporate and Community Partner Report

With the cancellation of the 2020 Columbus Arts Festival due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Arts Festival staff pivoted to create an online way for the community to engage with the Festival. While we were socially distanced we were virtually together with the 2020 Columbus Arts Festival in Place (CAFIP) presented by the American Electric Power Foundation.

Check out the CAFIP website at columbusartsfestinplace.org.

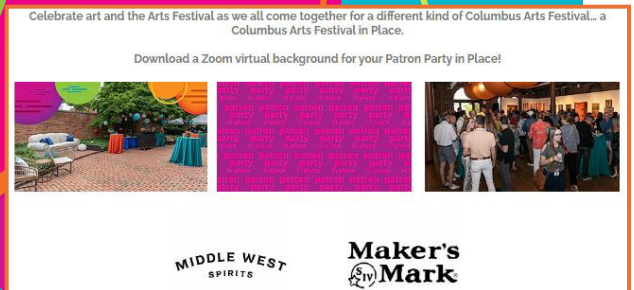

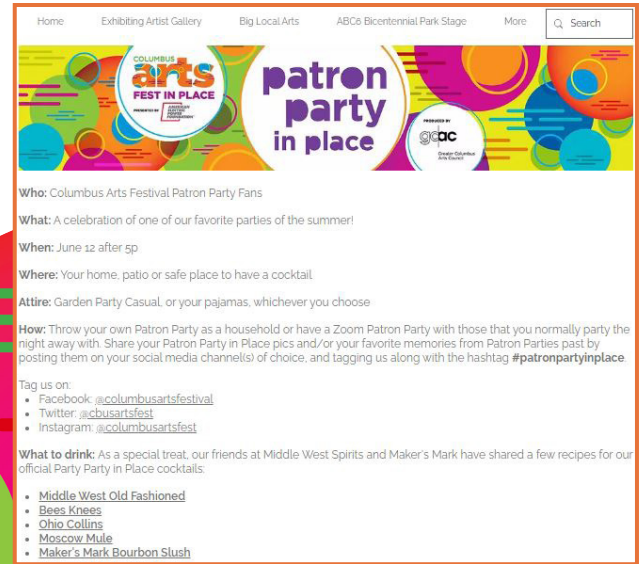

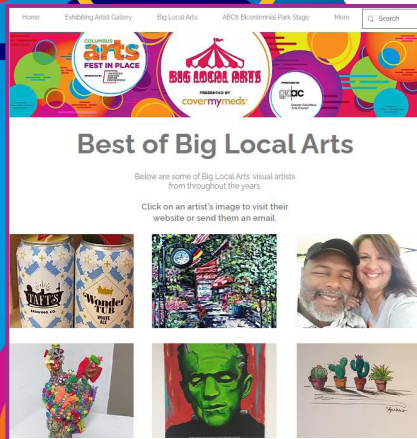

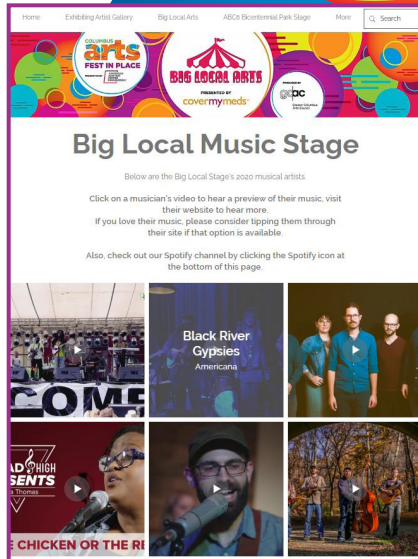

Exhibiting Artists

CAFIP featured a new browsable gallery of the 275 local and national visual artists previously scheduled to attend in 2020. This enabled us to give a preview of our show for next year.

Presented by CoverMyMeds

Attendees were invited to shop local artists' websites and listen to Big Local favorites via links and custom Spotify playlists.

CAF Chalk Challenge

Attendees were invited to create their own chalk creations and share with the CAFIP hashtag on Instagram for entry.

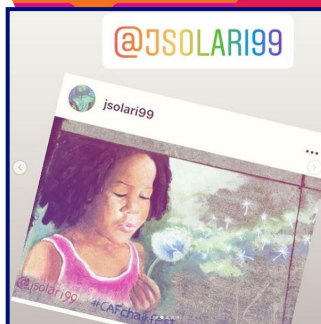

"Us W Beaumontonians had a blast doing this. I think it will become a street wide tradition for us each summer!"

"Today would have been a beautiful day to explore the Columbus Arts Festival had they been able to hold it this year. Looking forward to going next year. I really appreciate all the things they've done this year so that people can still do activities and view vendors' art from home...I enjoyed doing a little art on my driveway to participate in the @columbusartsfest #CAFChalkChallenge."
